MONTPELIER

The appearance of the attorneys of be Burre and Montpelier Traction and luring the time that S. 73 has been under consideration in the House has caused some of the Washington county members to inquire if Montpelier or Barre are interested in S. 73 and S. 72. The first was laid on the table last night because Mr. Tracy of Johnson thought he saw a nigger in the wood pile and that if it passed with S. 72 the traction companies would have the towns and cities at the throat. S. 73 provides that a city or town may appropriate money to help finance a street car company More attention was given this evening service commission finds that a street railway is not making a reasonable rewhile S. 72 provides that if the publiturn upon a reasonable value of the railway, the commission may discontinue the service without the company's losing its charter. Taking separately, neither bill would do damage, but it is contended that if both are passed the traction company may say to a city or town, you must help us or we will apply to the public service commission to discontinue
